

King Solomon had all the attributes schools look for in a great commencement speaker. He was:

- Incredibly wealthy (2 Chron 1:14-17)
- Accomplished as a scholar and writer (2 Chron 9:1-9)
- A man of vast worldly experience (Eccl 1:14)

If Solomon spoke to graduates at the dawn of a new chapter in their lives, what might he say?

- “My father gave me some sound advice about _____” (1 Kings 2:1-3)
- “Here’s one of the most important things for _____ to remember” (Prov 1:7)
- “As an illustration (Eccl 4:13) ... and here’s the _____ you must learn” (Prov 19:20)
- “Don’t love _____” (Prov 20:13)
- “Beware the bite of the _____ serpent” (Prov 20:1; 23:29-35)
- “God blessed me with incredible wisdom (1 Kings 3:3-12); don’t you _____ it!” (Prov 2:1-15)
- “If you want to keep yourself out of _____...” (Prov 21:23)
- “Fight to keep this world and its stuff in _____” (Eccl 1:3-9)
- “The more you _____, the more this world is going to break your heart” (Eccl 1:18)
- “_____ smart and zealously guard what matters most” (Prov 23:23)
- “Strive for contentment with _____ accumulation” (Prov 13:11)
- “Go outside, kneel down in the grass, find some _____, and watch them (Prov 6:6-11)
- “Don’t get stuck in the _____” (Eccl 7:10)
- “Sometimes, the _____ you are, the more wise you will appear” (Prov 17:28)
- “If you choose to get _____, choose carefully” (1 Kings 11:1-4)
- “Don’t take to heart everything everyone _____” (Eccl 7:21-22)
- “God takes _____ seriously; so should you” (Eccl 5:2-7)
