A Child's 10 Commands for Parents

1. My hands are small; please do not expect perfection whenever I make a bed, draw a picture or throw a ball. My legs are short; please slow down so that I can keep up with you.
2. My eyes have not seen the world as yours have; please let me explore safely. Do not restrict me unnecessarily.
3. Housework will always be there. I am only little for a short time—please take time to explain things about this wonderful world to me and do so willingly.
4. My feelings are tender; please be sensitive to my needs; do not nag me all day long. Treat me as you would like to be treated.
5. I am a special gift from God; please treasure me as God intended, holding me accountable for my actions, giving me guidelines to live by and disciplining me in a loving manner.
6. I need your encouragement to grow. Please go easy on the criticism.
7. Please give me the freedom to make decisions concerning myself. Permit me to fail, so that I can learn from my mistakes.
8. Please do not do things over for me. Somehow that makes me feel that my efforts did not quite measure up to your expectations. Please do not compare me with my brother or sister.
9. Please do not be afraid to leave for a weekend together. Children need vacations from parents, just as parents need vacations from children. It is a great way to show us that your marriage is important.
10. Please take me to Bible class and church regularly, setting a good example for me to follow.
